A cartoon illustration of a man with dark hair, wearing a light grey long-sleeved shirt and blue pants, standing on a red brick walkway. He is leaning against a dark metal railing that curves along a body of water. In the background, a city skyline with various skyscrapers is visible under a clear blue sky. A speech bubble is positioned above the man's head, containing text. A large, semi-transparent watermark reading 'Storyboard That' and 'www.storyboardthat.com' is overlaid diagonally across the center of the image.

I wish i could travel more but I live in the big city and cant afford a plane
ticket

Hey Kyle did you hear about this new app I found. It lets you get a ride for long distance car trips cheaply.

No way really? you mean I can finally take that trip to The Grand Canyon!

I got to go download that right now. Bye Julie.

I cant wait to head to the grand canyon with you guys, Thanks for letting me join the ride group

No problem Kyle,
Remember you only owe me 50 dollars for your share in gas. The Grand Canyon awaits.